Hun. Lewis Cass

Secretary of State of the United States

In the year 1850 I held the Commission of Captain of Engineers in the Austrian Army . While on lowe of absence, I visited the United States, and determined to become an American Citizen. Enclosed are certified copies of my naturalization papers.

The Austrian Government refuses to accept my resignation unless I sign the usual "Quittioungs Revers" - a paper in which all military benefits, pensions to are renounced and by which the signer binds himself never to fight ugainst the Archdural House of Austria or their Allies or in any way to afford aid or assistance to their enemies.

Convoiving the latter condition to be incompatible with my wath and obligations as an American Citizen, I cannot of course comply with it, and my failure to appear at the expiration of my term of leave, subjects me to the penalters of the Austrian laws.

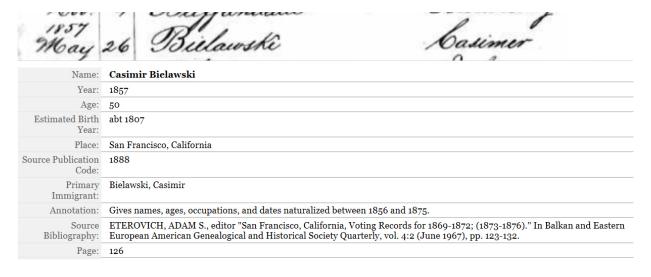

I have therefore respectfully to request your aid in my behalf, so as to enable me to visit my relations in Europe.

If the Charge d'Affaires of the United States at Vienna could procure from the Austrian Government, the acceptance of my resignation and formal discharge from the Austrian service, I could arramplish the desired object without annoyance.

If, on the other hand, I visit Austria without such unconditional discharge, all the rigors of the law would be inflicted upon me, and it might give rise to difficulty on the part of this Tovarnment to protect my rights as an American Cilizen .

I have the honor to be Very respectfully Your obdt Level Casimir Bielawski

This work is represented to have been compiled from the latest and most reliable surveys-Government, State and private. The country it embraces extends as far north as Oroville, and south to Santa Cruz, taking in the Pacific line of coast and a portion of the State of Nevada. The map is on a large scale-i miles to one inch-and is about 54 feet by 3 feet in size. The railroads, we are informed, have been located from the actual field notes of the several lines-the gentlemen who have compiled and published the work having been engaged in the surveys and location of the principal routes. A minute impection of the man will be found very suggestive, and full of instruction as to the future of the railroad interest m this country.

Germans starting flocking to the San Francisco Bay area during the gold rush of 1849. The dedication of the present church building in 1895 marked three decades of effort by German immigrants to establish Lutheranism in California. Rev. Frederick Mooshake from Goettingen University arrived in 1849 to minister to the immigrants. Initially, services were held in homes, then in the Congregational Church of Christ, which was later bought by Rev. Mooshake and his followers, and the First German Evangelical Lutheran Church was formed in 1859.

There was a graind Mass Meeting of the Union party held last evening in Union Hall, Howard street. The spacious and elganan place of assemblage was early crowded. The front seats were principally occupied by ladies, who, during the present campaign, more perhaps than any other, invest the hustings, if the expression may be used, with the charm of their presence. Fireworks and music attracted attention to Third street, and before the time arrived for the organization the Hall was full. The American, German and Trish than were surpended over the platform upon which the band were stationed.

On motion of Mr. Tilden, Mr. Frank Pixley was elected President, and the following named gentle-

Frank H. Skinner, Clerk of Records; Rufus C. Hopkins, Keeper of Archives; J. H. Wildes, C. Bielawski, and R. Gibbons, Draftsmen; George Chambers, Messenger.

Answer.-My name is Casimir Bielawski; my age is fifty-five years; I am a civil engineer and draughtsman, and reside in the city of San Francisco, California.

Interrogatory 2d.—Are you connected with the office of the Surveyor-General of the United States for the State of California; and if so, please state in what capacity and how long have you been so connected?

Answer.-I am now, and have been since February, eighteen hundred and fifty-four, (1854) with two intermissions, connected with that office in the capacity of draughtsman, and during the greater portion of that time I was principal draughtsman.

Interrogatory 3d.—How long and when were the intermissions you speak of?

Answer.—The first intermission was for about six months, beginning in the latter part of the year 1858, and the other for about one year and a half, beginning in the summer of 1863.

Interrogatory 4th. -Since you have been connected with the office of the Surveyor-General, as you have stated, have you always had free access to the papers of that office?

Answer.—I have. The maps of the office were under my special charge while I was principal draughtsman, Interrogatory 4th. -Since you have been connected with the office of the Surveyor-General, as you have stated, have you always had free access to the papers of that office?

Answer .- I have. The maps of the office were under my special charge while I was principal draughtsman,

Interrogatory 5th.—Did you ever, as draughtsman in that office, make a map or plat of a survey, or pretended survey, of the Panoche Grande Grant, so-called?

Answer.-I did.

Interrogatory 6th.—Please state when, and at whose request, you made it, and all the particulars in regard to the making of Answer.-I made it in September, 1862, under the order of E F. Beale, the Surveyor-General. I made it from the field notes and data of a survey by E. H. Dyer, U. S. Deputy Surveyor. made it out of office hours, and as extra work, and was paid for it by William McGarrahan.

Interrogatory 7th. -- Please state any further facts within your knowledge in connection with this map or plat and said survey. Answer. - In examining the field notes of survey from which I compiled this plat, I found that one-half of the corners of the exterior boundaries of said grant had not been established by the Deputy Surveyor on the ground, and for this reason I wrote in pencil on the map, when finished, my remarks to that effect, and advised that the surveys should not be approved. I then handed the plan to Mr. William McGarrahan, who submitted the same to Mr. Beale for inspection. Mr. Beale overruled my objections. and on the eleventh (11th) day of September, 1862, approved the plat and survey.

Interrogatory 8th.—Have you any knowledge as to the time occupied in making said survey; and if so, please state it?

Answer.—From the field notes of said survey, on file in the United States Surveyor-General's office, I see that the survey was made between the 24th and 28th days of July, 1862.

Anniversary of the Polish Revolution.

Yesterday was the anniversary of the Polish Revolution of 1830 for Independence. To commemorate that day in an appropriate way, the members of the Polish Society of California, of which the wellknown and esteemed citizen, Mr. Bielawski, of the Surveyor-General's office, is the President, assembled at about 6 o'clock P. M. at Hunt's Hotel, corner of Washington street and Montgomery avenue, animated by the best feelings. Shortly after, they sat down to a sumptuous dinner, and heartily partock of all the delicacies spread before them by the hospitable host.

By unanimous vote, Alexander Bednawski was elected as Chairman, and R. Korwin Piotrowski as Vice-Chairman—the only two survivors who took an active part in that memorable war, and at present residents of San Francisco.

The following gentlemen were prominent as speakers: Capt. Korwin Piotrowski and General Krzyzanowski, of the Grand Army; Mr. Engelman, Secretary of the Polish Society; Mr. Redlich, Mr. J. Uszynski and Capt. F. T. Lessen.

A POLISH CELEBRATION.

Anniversary of the War of Independence of Thirty.

The outbreak of the Polish war of inde-pendence of 1830-31 was yesterday celebrated in this city under the auspices of the Polish Society. At 11 o'clock in the morning a solemn requiem mass was cele-brated in St. Bridget's Church for the repose of the souls of the departed Polish patriots. During the mass the Rev. Dr. Szhultz preached a sermon in Polish for the benefit of a number of his countrymen, who had assembled in the church to participate in the ceremony, said Father Szhultz, "remembering their high destiny, have always been ready to sacrifice everything and shed their blood for the freedom of their country. Of this fact the glorious 29th of November, in adfor the freedom of shelr country. O' this fact the glorious 20th of November, in addition to many other herote efforts, is a proof. He concluded by exhorting them to romain faithful to hoir religiou, for by so doing they would render bost service to the country they loved.

Dear Sin

J beg to be execused for not heeping my appointment yesterday. From the wet streets, the sky overcast with threatening clouds and the wind blowing from the South West, prognosticating a rainy day, I staid home, and can assure of having fett very sorry indeed, when at about goldsch the rising sun by his warm rays dispersed the clouds as if by enchantment, and made of yesterday a day inviting pleasant excursions.

But as delayed pleasure is not an abandoned one, my wife and myself will have the consolation of surprising our alhambra friends on one of the Sundays in the next future.

BUILDER OF AUSTRIAN FORTRESSES IS DEAD.

Captain Casimir Bielawski Dies at His Home on California Street.

Captain Casimir Bielawski, who as an Austrian military engineer, won fame by building noted forts more than half a century ago, died yesterday morning at his home, at 2302½ California street. He had passed his ninetieth birthday. Gastritis was the cause of death.

Bielawski superintended the construction of a famous fort at Venice in 1844, when that portion of Italy was under Austrian rule. He also directed the building of the Mantua fortress, as well as several other Austrian strongholds. He witnessed the massacre at Galicia in 1846, and as a result of the relentless saying was turned against those at the head of his native land. He secured leave of absence, visited France and England, and when the Austrian Government began to press him to return into service he came to the United States.

Captain Bielawski arrived in California in 1853. He secured a position in the Government Land Surveying Office here, and because of his expert knowledge in surveying held his position through various administrations covering forty-five years. He finally resigned because of old age. Mrs. Bielawski died about four years ago and from that time on the aged military Captain's health failed rapidly.
